- 9:30am - 3pm Let's Ride - Blue Ridge Scenic Railway

More Than a Train Ride

Your journey begins at the historic depot in downtown Blue Ridge. Known as the "antique capital" of Georgia, this small mountain town is filled with friendly faces and nostalgic architecture. Blue Ridge is also a hub for art and live music, offering an even mix of both old and new tunes for visitors to enjoy.

Personalize your journey with a choice of vintage, climate-controlled or open-air rail cars for your 26-mile trip along the Toccoa River. Riders will join the countless generations who have experienced the lush Appalachian foothills and farmlands in a way only possible aboard the Blue Ridge Scenic Railway.

During a two-hour layover, you'll have time to visit the small southern sister towns of McCaysville, Georgia and Copperhill, Tennessee. Located on each state's line, also known as "The Blue Line," guests have the unique opportunity to have a foot in Georgia and Tennessee at the same time. While in the towns, we also recommend that you visit Toccoa-Ocoee Street. On this street, guests can explore delightful eateries, antique and specialty shops, and art galleries before boarding the train for the hour-long return.

We have an opportunity to enjoy a beautiful, scenic ride on the Blue Ridge Scenic Railway on our free day - Friday! We will ride our motorcycles to the boarding site, enjoy a leisurely ride that includes a layover where you can enjoy the local communities, and then return for a ride back to the campground. We can book a private car but we need to reserve early - so please let us know immediately if you would be interested in participating in this great time. Cost per person = $95
